To avoid abandonment of this application, applicant must timely file one of the following replies: (1) an amendment, affidavit, or other evidence, which places the application in condition for allowance; (2) a Notice of Appeal (with appeal fee) in compliance with 37 CFR 41.31; or (3) a Request for Continued Examination (RCE) in compliance with 37 CFR 1.114. The date on which the petition under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and the appropriate extension fee have been filed is the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b) NOTICE OF APPEAL	r than three months after the mailing da	te of the final rejection, e	even if timely filed,

Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The Applicant in substance argues the following points: 1. The audio-video unit of Weinberger does not provide diagnostic support; and 2. The computer system of Weinberger is not a system that is operable in a headless environment. In response to the first argument the Examiner respectfully submits that there is no mention of diagnostic support in the specifications or in the claims of the instant application. In response to the second argument, the Examiner respectfully submits that there is no limitations in the claims directed to headless environment in which the system of the applicant operates. In summary, neither the diagnostics support, nor the headless environment that the Applicant argues about are found in the claim limitations. Claimed subject matter, not the specification, or third party declarations, is the measure of the invention.

Disclosure contained in the specification cannot be read into the claims for the purpose of avoiding prior art. Therefore, the Office maintains the finality of the rejection.
